To a learned person it would 'seem' to be that on the balance of probabilities every man should be painted with the same brush, therefore 'seemingly' every man should be presumed guilty by gender and regardless of standing within our society, yet can be openly degraded in a pre-election stunt and likened to a Pedophile for opposing political gains in order to secure a federal election, as was blatantly evident at the February 2022 National Press Club Conference. While it seems to be that there is no Judicial system in place to protect the innocence of a Prime-minister being likened to a Pedophile, What chance do any men have when a woman can openly state a resemblance the Prime Minister showed to a Pedophile, then openly viewed by the entire population of Australia at a "hastily arranged" Major Press Club Conference such as that. In essence, if a Prime Minister can be likened to a Pedophile for opposing political gains, Then any man seems fair game to a woman's premeditated reckonings, "Guilty or Not". Maybe you should take a step back, then form a likeness to all of society, instead of division, by way of pursuing and prosecuting 'false defamatory accusations also', to the same extent that you would pursue a person being born male. Quote: "If a woman knowingly Asserts, or Likens a Man to a Pedophile or Rapist in Public without Proof, That woman should be Found Guilty by a Court, and subjected to the exact same Laws and Sentences that Men are, Once Found Guilty". I also understand that you may not publish my Feedback, So I would 'Formally' request that you keep this comment on record for future translation in a court, tribunal or other, For recall, As "This will very nearly equate to all men being demonized" guilty or not, and seemingly a forced deliberate segregation by certain people within society.
